

COP26

Super COP

Who are we?

- We are the UK's largest group of people dedicated to action on climate change.
- 140 organisations and 22 million voices, from large international NGOs, like WWF and the National Trust, down to local community groups
- Our goal is to bring together people, organisations, businesses, faith groups (and more!) and make sure our politicians hear our voices

Why this is a Super COP

- Five years since Paris - Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs)
- Beginning of a crucial decade of action
- If not now, when?

Why this really is a Super COP

- Due to the relative failure of the COPs after Paris, there are many outstanding items to agree on that have been rolled onto this COP
- These include:
  - Carbon market mechanisms
  - Funding for loss and damage
  - Climate finance - where is the $100bn?
  - how to introduce nature-based solutions into Paris

Why this really, REALLY is a super COP

- Covid. Where to start?
- For the first time in four years, we have a US president who believes in climate change (a good first step!)
- After China's announcement of reaching net-zero by 2060, it finally seems ready to come to the table after playing saboteur before

What makes a successful COP

- What happens in the year before COP26 to advance climate ambition
- How successful the official negotiations are at COP26
- What progressive coalitions and alliances emerge for action on climate change to implement the Paris agreement successfully

The British government

- Global Britain - mixed signals
- Does not want to be embarrassed
- There are forces within government pushing for ambition

So what are we doing?
